

Cortes Island Information 2012

Thank you for leaving this book behind

Dear Visitors,

Welcome to our beautiful Cortes Island. In order to inform you about activities, businesses, events and services that can help your stay here more enjoyable, we have made this information book.

Cortes is an island that attracts people because of its relatively undeveloped status. Our natural surroundings provide us with a quiet and beautiful lifestyle. Although we have limited facilities, there are things to do and explore that are not available anywhere else.

Another purpose of this book is to inform you about our island community. You will find information about First Nations, driving on our roads, walks, wildlife, fire safety, and other topics that help you participate in island life with awareness and respect.

Please take a few minutes to read the Cortes Island Information Book and familiarize yourself with the many ways you can spend your vacation time here.

This book is created with you, dear Visitor, in mind. By using the services advertised here you support the local economy and help us publish this book in the future.

We would like to thank all our advertisers and our contributors. We would not be able to create this book without you.

Have a wonderful stay!

DRIVING ON CORTES ISLAND

The roads of Cortes Island present different challenges to the visitor than they may be used to dealing with. We have hills, bends, no shoulder areas, gravel, bicyclists, large trucks, and lots and lots of deer! It is important to anticipate these conditions and drive accordingly when you are visiting to avoid injury to yourself or others.

The following tips may save you time, money, and injury. Remember that we may not move as quickly as our friends in the city, and drive with patience and care. Slowing down a bit also gives you a better chance to see where you are and appreciate this beautiful island. If you notice another car behind you that obviously is going faster than you, just pull over and let the other driver pass. They may be volunteer firemen or paramedics on their way to an emergency.

You may notice the large numbers of deer grazing along the roads, especially at dusk. They are sometimes hard to notice and they are rarely alone, so if you spot one, you can expect there is at least one other nearby that you may be missing. In early summer the fawns are often hiding and jump out suddenly when cars approach. They may stand still and do nothing or they may bolt across the road. Please give them the chance to make up their minds about what their reaction will be, and drive defensively when you see deer on the roadside. They are not very large, but they can cause a lot of damage to a vehicle and its passengers, and many deer are killed each year here because of driver inattentiveness.

More people on Cortes are using bicycles when they can. Because the roads have gravel shoulders, bicyclists tend to use the main roadway instead. Please take care and be aware of cyclists on the road. Give them room to spare when passing. Forcing them onto loose gravel can be dangerous.

We assume that one of the reasons you are here is because of Cortes Island's natural beauty. To preserve this attraction for all of us, please keep your trash and bottles, cups, wrappers, cigarettes, and food waste with you in your car until you can properly dispose of it. It is up to each of us to make sure our roadsides do not become a mess of debris.

Since there is no public transport on the island, people often hitchhike. Islanders usually stop and give them a ride if they can. You may want to do the same, when you feel like it. It is a great way of meeting people that you normally might not get in touch with.

One of our biggest concerns in an island community is fire. We live in a small and finite space, and fire can be disastrous. If you smoke, never, ever throw your butts out the window of your car. This is one of the commonest causes of fires and can be easily avoided. Our island gets very dry in the summer and all it takes is a spark to start a blaze.

Lastly, you may notice yourself being waved at as you travel the island. This may be the "full wave", or the subtle one finger off the steering wheel "finger wave". No, you don't necessarily know the person acknowledging you as you pass. It is just a local custom and you can relax and receive the greeting or even return it if you feel inclined. This is a friendly place!

CORTES HISTORY

As you arrive on the ferry at Whaletown you can see on your left the site of the old whaling station. There are a couple of cabins there but the low rocky ledge and the lone piling near a steep bluff is where, in the 1860's, whales were hauled up on shore and the blubber was removed and rendered into whale oil. In just a few years all the whales had been killed so the station closed.

The huge trees that grew on Cortes became the next thing to be exploited. There are few of these magnificent giants left standing. One still stands defiantly where the Gorge Harbour Road has to curve out to get past its huge trunk. There is another one where Bartholomew Road dips down the hill just past Fairhaven Nursery.

Manson's Landing got its name for the pioneer who built a trading post there in 1887. He bought furs and dogfish oil from the native people who still thrived on the area until smallpox and diphtheria killed off most of these original folk. If you go to the end of the sandspit that marks the entry to the Manson's Lagoon you will see across the water one of the huge middens filled with clam shells that tells of years of Native occupation. The women threaded large clams on sticks and smoked them to save the food for winter use.

Smelt Bay got its name because at high tide in wintertime the female smelt laid their eggs at the tideline with the males spreading spawn through the water. In exactly one month the eggs hatched and the next high tide washed the eggs out into the sea, causing a feeding frenzy on the part of ducks and seagulls. Local folk including the huge population of Native people in the village that once thrived at the end of the beach all enjoyed this egg laying bonanza. Like the whales and the huge trees, these little fish have disappeared. But the beauty of Cortes Island remains.

KLAHOOSE FIRST NATION

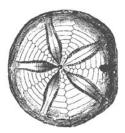

The Klahoose First Nation traditional territory encompasses Desolation Sound and islands in the northern Straits of Georgia as well as Toba Inlet and adjacent watersheds.

The total band membership reaches just over 300 people. Klahoose has 10 reserves, with a total area of 4305 km², the largest of which are Klahoose at the mouth of Toba River, the other one has main village site on Cores Island in Squirrel Cove, with about 60 people. Close to 150 people are living off reserve, mostly in Campbell River, Powell River and Vancouver.

For more information please see: www.klahoose.com

^{*} June Cameron's people came to Cortes Island in 1917 so she knows a bit about this magical place. Three of her books have been published by Heritage House: Destination Cortez Island tells of the early settlers here, Shelter from the Storm, of her travels, often alone, on the BC coast, and 26 Feet to the Charlottes records her journey there with a friend on his tiny 26 foot wooden sailboat in 1983. June Cameron is also currently writing to magazines.

FIRE AWARENESS

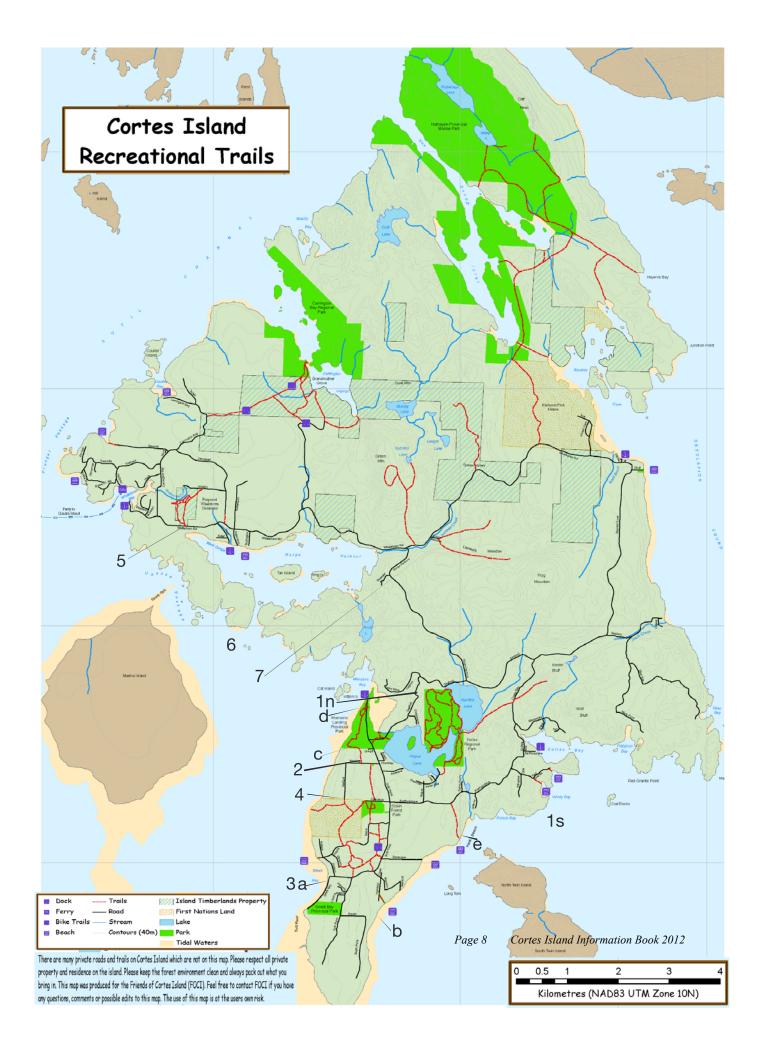

Since we are a small island covered with trees, one of our greatest concern is fire, especially during summer season. We have volunteer fire brigade with fire halls in Manson's Landing and Whaletown.

Please observe the fire ban that is in effect from May 15th on. Call 911 if you see any unattended fires on the island. Thank you for keeping our island safe together with us!

General Fire Safety

- If you are a smoker, when smoking outdoors, dispose of cigarettes and matches properly. Do no toss lit matches or cigarettes out of your car window ever use your ashtray.
- To use an outdoor stove or barbeque keep the stove a safe distance away from flammable materials. Make sure briquettes and ashes are cold to the touch before disposing of them.
- To report a forest fire call 1-800-663-5555 or *5555 from a cell phone.

WALKS

There are beautiful trails on the island, but most of them are partially on private land. Be respectful of private property and do not go off trail. Most of the trails are easy, with some steep parts. Some are suitable for a bike ride.

- Kw'as Park near Hague Lake. To reach the north entrance (1n) to the trails, park your car in the elbow across from the swamp just south of the Cortes Motel on the road leading to Manson's Landing. More difficult. To access the south portion (1s), park at the parking lot off Kw'as Bay Road. There are maps with more information at the entrances of the park and throughout the park. Easy, with some steep parts.
- 2. The "School to Sea Trail" at Manson's Landing, 950 Beasley Road. It goes from the public school to the ocean. There may be room to park in the school's parking lot. If not, park on the road. In passing, notice the totem pole next to the school. Easy, with some steep parts.
- 3. From Smelt Bay you can make long beach walks. The view is stunningly beautiful. Don't forget to go there at least once to watch the sunset! Smelt Bay is at the end of Sutil Point Road. There is parking next to the beach. Try to be there at low tide. Easy.
- 4. Siskin Lane has a network of developed trails through the woods, suitable for walks and bike rides. It is located in Manson's Landing uptown south of the Credit Union. Easy.
- 5. Whaletown Commons on Whaletown Road is located between Hunt Road and Carrington Bay Road just east of the Whaletown Fire Hall. The entrance is marked by a sign. Park on the main road. There are several loops through beautiful old growth forest. Easy.
- 6. Green Mountain Trail offers a 360 degree view of Cortes and the surrounding area. Coming from Whaletown bear left at the "Y" junction with Gorge Harbour Road. Take first left (it looks like a driveway), park your car and follow a steep road uphill. Keep going straight. More difficult.

BEACHES

- a. Smelt Bay has a beautiful, long beach. It is at the end of Sutil Point Road. There is parking lot next to the beach.
- b. Hollyhock > See ad.
- c. Hague Lake is very suitable for families with small children. It has a nice little sandy beach. From Manson's go north, take a right on Seaford Road and park your car at the parking lot on the left of the road. Pay attention to fast driving traffic when you cross the road on your way to the beach.
- d. Manson's Lagoon Provincial Park (a big word for a small place) at the north end of Sutil Point Road has a little sandy beach with big tidal differences.
- e. Hank's Beach Park from Sutil Point Road turn into Bartholomew. Park you car at a small parking 1.8 km (1 mile) on your right at the bottom of the hill. 10 minutes walk (easy) or ride through the woods will take you to the beach.

We need to keep our wolves WILD in order to live together with them. Here's what each of us can do!

1. Never feed wolves

It is illegal and completely irresponsible as it endangers you, your fellow community members and the wolves! Take care not to leave meat scraps out near your home or in your compost pile. Dispose of these responsibly; dig into a pit or feed to the crabs.

2. Do not feed deer or raccoons; they are prey species of wolves.

Food conditioned deer and raccoons WILL attract wolves to your doorstep and your neighbours. Be responsible to yourself and your community.

3. Keep yourself safe

HAZE wolves! When you encounter them in a residential area i.e. near your house, your neighbour's, the community halls, stores, schools etc. Wave your arms to make yourself look bigger, shout loudly, use noisemakers, throw sticks/stones, or especially an air horn. Let them know, in no uncertain terms, that they need to fear you and you will not tolerate their presence in this place Use your most aggressive body language! Take bear spray along as an extra precaution when walking the dog, hiking alone off the beaten track extra precaution when walking the dog, hiking alone off the beaten track or working the beaches at night.

4. Keep your pets safe

Dogs must be leashed when walked; an unleashed dog is seen as prey by the wolves. Ensure all pets are secured in sturdy, predator proof kennels outside or kept inside your house at night. Keep your outside pet feeding area clean and never leave uneaten food in them. Do not take your dogs with you when hiking in natural areas frequented by wolves i.e. Carrington, Von Donop, Hank's Beach, Marina Island etc.

5. Practice good animal husbandry

Ensure all livestock are secured inside sturdy, predator proof structures at night. If wolves approach livestock during the day, HAZE them; scare them away with an air horn or other loud noisemaker.

Also importantly, we are reminded that if we find ourselves in wolf territory, and encounter a wolf, we should kindly take our leave of the area.

Environmental Integrity through community responsibility

The Museum building is history itself. It served as the local store next to the dock at Manson's Landing from 1940 until 1995 when the lagoon area was designated a Provincial Park. The old store building was fitted with wheels, pulled up the hill and installed on a corner of Firehall No. 1 property.

Displays showcase the History of Cortes Island and include a pioneer kitchen, local birds & mammals, a fishboat model, First Nations Artifacts and stories, plus photos from homesteading settlers. The Von Donop Shed in the garden stores a variety of logging equipment used in earlier days on Cortes. New feature exhibits are installed each year. A permanent display of the whole island is being compiled and developed.

The Museum Shop sells new and used books, CD's, and some local art and handcrafts. In addition, the Museum's Comfy Corner has many albums of photographs and stories from early settlers. Come in, relax, and browse.

The Museum sponsors Periodic Special Events such as "Walks and Talks" that are advertised on local bulletin boards, and in the weekly Cortes Marketer.

Want to know where the best beaches or hiking trails are? Where you can camp, or stay?

The Museum hosts a Tourist/Visitor Information Booth.

The Museum's Heritage Garden preserves pioneer plants. Heritage roses transplanted from old homesteads bloom with other plants such as wisteria, and old-time fruit trees. This garden reflects settlement history on Cortes, featuring a range of plants introduced to island gardens before the 1950's. It's a fragrant and colourful place to rest and "set awhile" on benches or a picnic table.

Come sail with us on historic cruises. The Museum Society offers exciting Cruises in Desolation Sound waters aboard the charter vessel Misty Isles, owned by Cortes residents Samantha and Mike Moore. From May to September this 43-foot motor schooner sets out on different one or 2-day adventures into the stunningly beautiful waters surrounding Cortes Island. Skipper and naturalist Mike Moore offers fascinating background details and entertains guests with First Nations legends and tales of early European exploration. For details on these summer trips, see local bulletin boards and publications. Phone or visit the Museum to register.

Or how about taking a trip up into the unspoiled inlets of Desolation Sound, Canada. In the inlets' wilderness, you can see black bears foraging along the shore as they come out of hibernation. Along the way, enjoy the awe-inspiring view of the rugged and spectacular coastal mountain ranges. Family Relationships Coach Rosita Larrain

Coaching for families, couples, parents & children wanting to heal, grow and enjoy life together

Rosita Larrain is a Family Relationships Coach, experienced and inspired to help you navigate through relational challenges and create more fulfilling, satisfying interactions within your family context.

Whether it is a parent-child, couple or extended family relationship, Rosita's coaching offers you a deeper understanding of your particular dynamics and will help you to envision how you would like things to be. You will find a compassionate listener and insightful guidance in your process of creating quality family bonds, as you learn to work "in" differences and discover a renewed appreciation of one another.

She believes that everyday family life is a perfect opportunity for awareness and growth; that healing on a global scale begins at home, hinging upon our own individual and family healing. She invites and encourages her clients to explore their power and concrete possibilities for joy, meaning, enrichment and harmony in the relationships closest to their hearts.

Rosita's compassionate and peaceful loving presence provided me with a safe space for deep healing. She guided me gently into my feelings and into my heart's well of inner knowing. Her brilliant insights and practical advice gave me confidence in my ability to transform my problems into perfect opportunities to grow and mature.
